Introducing the Safetyville Board Game:

Have you ever tried to teach a child something important, but she wasn't really paying attention? Have you ever played a game with a child and noticed how much he really wants to win? Children get so absorbed in this competitive board game that they don't even realize they are learning how to stay safe in today's unsafe world. Two to four players, all skill levels play together -- even non-readers can join in the fun!

Fingerprinting, DNA, & Dental Records Kit:

Law enforcement officials recommend that parents maintain their child's fingerprints, DNA samples, and dental records in a secure, readily accessible location. This product provides an inexpensive and at-home means of completing and storing a personal data file for every child in the household.

Let the power of the Kidz-IDz Child Safety Product Line help your school, club, or group raise the money it needs while helping to keep the children in your community. After all, what could be more important?

And now for the answer to our sample Safety Question: Did you answer with, “Ask the police officer to show you his/her ID before you let him/her inside.”

If that was your answer, you were incorrect! After all, would you really be able to differentiate a valid ID from an imitation?

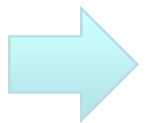

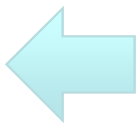

You should not allow the police officer to come inside your home. Instead, dial 911, and relay to the dispatcher that there is someone at the door claiming to be a police officer, and follow the operator’s instructions.

Your customers will learn this and other valuable safety lessons with the help of the Kidz-IDz child safety product line!
